His Contribution.

"I suppose," said the advance agent, "that you have heard of Joseph Brooks, who manages W. H. Crane. Well, Brooks is forever doing things which make people laugh at him. One time while ago there was a benefit for the Lamb's club, and the committee which had the affair in charge opened what they called a 'contribution book.' This was circulated among the people in the profession, and those who wished to give anything wrote their names in the book and the article or sum of money contributed. Somebody, his story does not record his name, wrote, 'I contribute one magnum.'"

"The next person who got the book was Brooks. He looked the contributions over, and that magnum struck him as a pretty thing. So he wrote: 'I also contribute one magnum. W. H. Crane, under the management of Joseph Brooks.' A member of the club said the inscription, and meeting Brooks said, 'Hello, Joe; I see you and Crane have contributed a magnum for the benefit.'"

"Yes," said Brooks, "I intend to give a magnum if there is one to be shot in this part of the country." He had an idea that a magnum was a sort of fowl evidently, and until this day he does not know why the Lambs gibe him about that contribution."—Buffalo Express.

Typical Vaccination.

Professor Frankel of Berlin has announced that he has discovered not only the bacillus of typhus fever, but also that, by using an attenuated culture of it by vaccination, he has been able to produce a rapid, benign course of this dangerous and deadly fever. Fast on the heels of this news comes the report that Professor Rumpf has cultivated an antifer bacillus which will cure typhus in eight days. The latter discovery is an extraordinary one, not altogether unlooked for. If the present bacillus theory be true, for every disease germ there exists a natural antidote in the shape of another germ whose function is to eat up the other or to destroy its effect by rendering the subject "immune."

Heretofore M. Pasteur has been the only successful discoverer along this line, with the memorable exception, of course, of Dr. Jenner. In swine and splenic fever and in rabies, M. Pasteur has found the appropriate antidote, but it would not be strange if the material progress of medical knowledge during the next generation were directed to the discovery of bacillus cures for all the specific diseases known to man.—Exchange.

Pure Oxygen.

A number of processes for the manufacture of pure oxygen from air have appeared recently, all following in a general way the suggestions of the well known "Birt" process. Herr G. Kassner, in The Chemiker Zeitung, claims a superiority for a salt of calcium, the calcium plumbate, Ca3 PhO4, his process being briefly as follows: The plumbate in spongy porous pieces is exposed to the action of moist furnace gases which have previously been well washed. Carbonic acid is absorbed by the calcium salt with decomposition, forming calcium carbonate and free peroxide of lead.

This decomposition is unaccompanied by a change of form. The resulting mass is transferred to a strong retort heated to redness. Oxygen is disengaged and the evolution facilitated by a stream of superheated steam. Finally carbonic acid is given off, and in the last stages this is pure. In the intermediate stage the gases are passed over calcium plumbate and the carbonic acid there absorbed, leaving the oxygen pure.—Science.

Lost and Found.

A man in this city recently found a $5 gold piece in a store, and a clerk endeavored to persuade him to turn it over to the proprietor. The man refused to do so, and the floorwalker showed him a rule of the establishment relating to lost property. The man still refused, claiming that the proprietors of the store might make for their employees what regulations they pleased with regard to lost property, but that such rules could not be made binding on the public. Alas, strictly he was right. Property that has been lost belongs to the finder until the owner appears and proves his ownership. It does not matter so far as the merits of the case are concerned whether the property be found in a store, in the street or in the desert. The finder has a right to it that precludes all claim but that of the proved owner.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

What's In a Name.

"Maybe I have an ugly color, as you say," said the Carrot to the Beet, "but when I am gone I hope some one may say a good word for me. It seems to me a dead carrot has a better chance for respect than a dead beet."

And the beet turned even redder in the face and had nothing more to say.—Philadelphia Times.

When He Might Call.

"I should like to know when you are going to pay that bill. I can't come here every day in the week."

"What day would suit you best?"

"Saturday."

"Very well, then, you can call every Saturday."—Petit Parisien.

A BALLAD OF THE OLD TROOPER.

The days of peace and days of pleading
Have been with me for many a year,
And further ever are receding
The daring days of blow and cheer.
Then bays and laurels alike were near,
The victor's sword and the hasty spades,
When the sweetest music to the ear
Was the clang and clatter and clash of blades.

Oh, the daze of dust and smoke, concealing
The old brigade as we used to ride,
With sabers sloping, yelling, reeling,
Our stirrups touching, side by side!
Now most who cheered and charged have Died.
The new day dawns; the old time fades;
No more shall crashing troops collide,
Mid clang and clatter and clash of blades.

And bugle notes were songs of praise;
The flag our trust, our souls outspurring
The hoarse thoughts of olden days;
These days when men are in a maze
Of anxious schemes and dubious trades;
My white beard smokes in other wars,
Mid the clang and clatter and clash of blades.

For naught to me is mart or city;
I dwell with ghosts of old brigades;
Would I had died with those you pity
Mid the clang and clatter and clash of blades!

—P. Y. Black in New York Sun.

Where Is Paris?

Most persons are under an impression that they know where Paris is. It is just as likely as not that they are mistaken. Indeed, it is open to some question whether anybody can say exactly where it is.

It is very well known that when the longitude of the French capital was determined some years ago there were discrepancies between the two parties of observers engaged in the business. The discrepancies were never reconciled, and the difficulty was got over by adopting the result which seemed most likely to be correct.

One thing, however, is pretty certain, if we are to believe the statements of scientists, that in 3,000 years or so the gay metropolis, or the best part of it, will be covered by the sea. For the mathematical observations of the French engineers prove that the south of France, especially in the region of the Pyrenees, is gradually rising, while the north of France is undergoing a process of depression at the rate of two-fifths of an inch per annum.—Annales Scientifiques.

A Touchy Race Horse.

Talking of Little Wenlock reminds me of an amusing incident connected with his shipment to Ireland. The lad who looked after him at Hornsby's traveled with him to Liverpool. We all know that Little Wenlock was cursed with a very demon of a temper. Aware of this, the lad said to the man in charge on the quay: "You had better let me lead him down the gangway. He will go quietly with me."

But an officious helper at hand said: "Do you think we don't know how to ship horses here? We'll soon take the nonsense out of him," and directing an assistant to lead the horse he hit him a smashing thwack over the quarters. The next minute Little Wenlock's heels were out, and the man who hit him was lying some four yards off, with the knowledge that there is that about a thoroughbred racer which had not previously been dreamed of in his philosophy.—London Globe.

A Stepmother.

"Mamma," asked 4-year-old Bessie, "What is a stepmother?"
Mamma was puzzled for a moment how to answer her tiny questioner on a matter so complicated. "Well, dear," she replied, "if I should die and your papa would marry again, that lady would be your stepmother."

Bessie was silent for a moment, and as her next remark showed trying to understand what the word step had to do with the matter. Then with a wise nod of her little head she said: "Oh! I see. You would step out, and she would step in."—Exchange.

Why Johnny Ate Them.

Mrs. Billus (after the company had gone)—Johnny, you shouldn't have eaten those preserves. They were not intended to be eaten. They were put on the table to fill up Johnny Billus—Well, that's what I used 'em for, mamma.—Chicago Tribune.

The Congo is the most wonderful waterway in the world. It is 25 miles across in parts, so that vessels may pass each other and yet be out of sight. It has twice the extent of the navigable waters of the Mississippi and its tributaries and three times its population.

Some tribes of North American Indians punished matricides by hanging them by their hands to the limbs of a tree, at a height just sufficient to permit the wolves to reach them from the ground. They were left to be eaten alive.

"Adirondacks" is an Indian word meaning "wood eaters" and was a term applied in derision to a defeated Indian tribe driven to the mountains by the Iroquois and forced to live there on bark and berries.

Horse bread is still made in some parts of Sweden, the Tyrol and Switzerland. When the driver reaches an inn, before indulging himself, he buys for his horse a round, flat cake or some of oatmeal.

The trichina found in infected pork are sometimes so numerous that 80,000 have been found to the cubic inch.

A SERPENT'S TONGUE.

The Venomous Member Obtrudes and Vibrates With a Warning Purpose.

I have on numberless occasions observed the common pit viper of southern South America, which is of a sluggish disposition, lying in the sun on a bed of sand or dry grass coiled or extended at full length. Invariably on approaching a snake of this kind I have seen the tongue exerted. That nimbly, glistening organ was the first and for some time the only sign of life or wakefulness in the motionless creature. If I stood still at a distance of some yards to watch it, the tongue would be exerted again at intervals; if I moved nearer or lifted my arms or made any movement, the intervals would be shorter and the vibrations more rapid, and still the creature would not move. Only when I drew very near would other signs of excitement follow.

At such times the tongue has scarcely seemed to me the "mute forked flash" that Ruskin calls it, but a tongue that said something, which, although not audible, was clearly understood and easy to translate into words. What it said or appeared to say was: "I am not dead nor sleeping, and I do not wish to be disturbed, much less trodden on. Keep your distance, for your own good as well as for mine." In other words the tongue was obtruded and vibrated with a warning purpose.

Doubtless the venomous serpent of sluggish habits has more ways than one of making itself conspicuous to and warning off any large, heavy animal that might injure by passing over and treading on it, and I think that in the ophidians of this temper the tongue has become incidentally a warning organ. Small as it is its obtrusion is the first of a series of warning motions and may therefore be considered advantageous to the animal, and in spite of its smallness I believe that in very many instances it accomplishes its purpose without the aid of those larger and more violent movements and actions resorted to when the danger becomes pressing.—Fortnightly Review.

The Wave Theory.

"One of the most remarkable cases in my experience," said a well known piano man in speaking of wave sympathy and its effect in sometimes causing discords in the harmonious sounds of a piano through wave vibration with articles of furniture, loose doors, chandeliers and stoves in the room with the piano, "occurred a short time ago when I was called upon to tune the piano of a prominent lady and a well known musician in this city. After running the scale I found the discordant key, and immediately proceeded to act upon the wave theory in trying to find the loose articles of furniture from which the unsympathetic tone was produced.

"I had the lady in the meantime sounding this particular key, but after searching and listening all around the room I was unable to locate the cause of the discordant note. Finally getting upon a chair I sounded the ceiling. In one place the sound appeared to be more distinct than in any other spot. On sounding the wall I found that the paper had been stretched over a stovepipe hole, and that there were some small pieces of loose plaster lying on the paper. I removed these pieces, and immediately the discordant note became perfectly harmonious."—Minneapolis Journal.

Weaving In Secret.

If you happen to be walking along one of the streets of Williamsbridge bordering the Bronx, you are likely to hear from an open window snatches of a French operetta, sung by busy men and women, each taking his or her own part. The music goes on to a whizzing and clacking accompaniment, and if you will look through the open window, you'll see that the room is occupied by a large, old fashioned loom, and that high shelves up near the ceiling are thickly studded with spools of bright colored silk or worsted. The little brick house where all this goes on is the scene of a new industry, being occupied by a family or colony of French tapestry makers, cheerful work folks, jealous of their trade secrets.—New York Sun.

Entangled In a Live Wire.

If a person is tangled in a live electric wire and you want to extricate him therefrom, do not take hold of the victim's hands, as is usually done in a case of this kind. You will be shocked if you do. Be sure to grab the clothes alone, and then you are safe, and the current cannot reach you. Do not let anything come in contact with your bare hands but his coat and trousers. Of course if you have thick leather gloves on you can handle with impunity the individual in distress.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Thank You.

"Thanks" is a miserable expression commonly used by persons who have not had the advantages of good breeding. Every favor received and civility shown deserves to be recognized, and the smallest acknowledgment the recipient can make is to say or write "Thank you." The vulgarity of "thanks" is on a par with the postal card correspondence.—Detroit Free Press.

H. M. GRANICE - EDITOR

CHRIS. EVANS and Ed. Morrill are still playing hide and go seek with the officers of Fresno county, and the hunt for the bandit and his companion will no doubt have to be abandoned.

BAD news for Democrats who like their toddy.—The tax on whisky is to be increased. The imposition of $1 per gallon on whisky and the extension of the bonding period has been formally agreed to by the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee of the House as a feature of the internal revenue bill.

JUDGE ROBT. CROUCH died at his home in Napa of pneumonia last Thursday. He located in Napa in 1850 and was elected County Judge in 1863 and served eight years in that official capacity. In 1878 he was a member of the State Constitutional Convention and was elected Superior Judge of Napa county in 1884, serving one term, since which time he has devoted himself to the practice of the law. He was a native of Ohio and aged 71 years.

Mrs. JOHN RUSH of Fruitvale, Alameda county, while operating her sewing machine had the side of one of the fingers of her left hand punctured by the needle. The injury seemed trifling, yet it almost immediately induced lockjaw. The sufferer passed from one convulsion into another, and in spite of medical assistance died in a few hours' time. The form of the dread disease was most malignant. The patient's body would be bent backward like a bow by the violence of the contraction of the muscles in her arms, neck and body. Then the muscles would relax and as suddenly contract again, always causing extreme suffering. The case has attracted considerable attention.

THE California wine men have discovered a clause in the Wilson tariff bill which is causing them much worry. The clause referred to is that providing for a duty of 50 cents a gallon on still wines, but providing that no import tax shall exceed a hundred per cent of the value of the wine to be imported. The wine men say that under this law millions of gallons of inferior and impure French wines, worth only 8 cents a gallon, can be imported to compete with pure California wines. Under the Wilson bill these cheap wines could be taxed more than their value, and the result would be a practical nullification of the 50-cent tax. The wine men will protest vigorously against the measure, and will send a representative to Washington to work in their interest.

America's Great Danger

AN ENGLISH COMMENTARY.

Said an eminent English scientist recently: "The danger that confronts the great American people to-day is not the possible adoption of a wrong financial policy for the nation, or the spread of socialism, or the increase of corruption among public men. All these are bad enough, to be sure, but they are as nothing compared to the terrible national disease—I had almost said national crime—of overwork. The most rush for wealth is set at a killing pace, and thousands fall by the way every year."

You are likely to be one of the victims! How do we know? Because it is the exception to find a man or woman of adult age in perfect health. Nervous Disorders are spreading with fearful rapidity. Among the symptoms are—Backache, Headaches, Cold Hands and Feet, Dizziness, Hot Flashes, Fluctuating Sleep, Fainting, Headache, Hysteria, Irritability of the Liver, Melancholy, Failing Memory, Irritability, Rheumatism, Short Breath, Sleeplessness, Nervous Depression, Sexual Debility, Fits, etc. Rev. C. A. CARROLL, pastor First Baptist Church, Yellow Springs, O., writes as follows: "I have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveina for the past six months. I find it acts like a charm on the whole nervous system. I have not found its equal in giving immediate relief. Dr. Miles' Little Nerve and Liver Pills are a need a trial and they will recommend themselves to be the best pills in the market."

For five years I have suffered from Nervous Prostration. I was unable to work or sleep. The first dose of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveina gave me relief, and one thousand dollars would not cover the good it has done me."—JOHN MINGHEE, Youngstown, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveina is unequalled in curing Nervous Diseases. It contains no opiates or dangerous drugs. Sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS BOAT.

A Duck Hunter Accidentally Kills Himself.

On Saturday last John Schubert of San Francisco, while shooting ducks in the Sonoma marshes near Reclamation, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of his shot gun. The unfortunate man was alone at the time, his only companion being his faithful dog, and just how the accident occurred can only be surmised. It is supposed, however, that while rowing his duck boat, the gun which evidently rested against his right side, slipped on the slippery bottom of the boat and was discharged. The entire charge of shot entered his right side, literally tearing his insides to pieces.

His dead body was found some time after in the bottom of the boat which was floating aimlessly about with the tide. The hunter's faithful dog, was keeping silent watch over his dead master and the intelligent brute at last succeeded in attracting the attention of another hunter, who, surmising that something was wrong, approached and found Schubert, who was a stranger to him, lying stiff and cold in the bottom of the boat.

An inquest was held over the remains by Coroner Ungewitter, after which they were taken to San Francisco.

A Sister Relents.

On December 30th Mrs. Matilda Borneque, residing on the old Stuart place near Glen Ellen, swore out a warrant in Justice Cheney's Court in this place for the arrest of her sister, Miss Etta Willis, charging her with purloining a sewing machine. The examination of Miss Willis was set for last Tuesday, and the lady was present in court with her attorney R. M. Swain of Santa Rosa. District Attorney Seawell was also on hand to look out for the interests of the prosecution. Mrs. Borneque, the complaining witness, however, failed to materialize, much to the disgust of Justice Cheney, who issued the warrant. District Attorney Seawell, seeing that there had evidently been a reconciliation between the sisters, moved for a dismissal of the case, which was granted. Thus ended a little family squabble which ought never to have been made public.

Barber Business Booming.

Sonoma, which for a long time only boasted of one barber shop, is now to have three. At the present time the town has two well-appointed places where one can get scraped and hair cut in the latest style of the art, and now another establishment is to be opened up in the old Postoffice building, which is being prepared for the new candidate for tonsorial favors. It is said, but we do not vouch for the truthfulness of the statement, that the youthful members of the Ten Pin Social Club, ambitious to raise hirsute appendages to the upper lip, are responsible for this barber-booming business.

The Tehema Man Gets the Place.

Waverly Stairly has at last secured the appointment of Internal Revenue Collector of the Fourth District, and will assume the duties of the office on or about February 1st. Of course a grand bounce of the Republican warehouse-keepers, guagers, etc., will speedily follow to make places for the adherents of Grover.

Several members of the Salvation Army of Santa Rosa were in town the past week circulating copies of their paper "The War Cry."

The case of Chas. Fredricks, charged with assault and battery, was dismissed last Friday in Judge Zane's court, owing to the absence of the complaining witness.

The tug of war contest which took place last Sunday between the guests of the Glen Ellen and Mervyn Hotels was won by the latter after a hard struggle of several hours.

Geo. Zane and family have removed to Santa Cruz where they will reside in the future. Mr. Zane has been employed to take charge of the Bella Vista vineyards at that place.

A Native Son made his appearance one day this week in the home of our friend C. H. W. Bruning. Mother and son are doing nicely, but William is so puffed up with paternal pride that serious consequences are feared.

Miss Grace Ephlin, who has been visiting the family of W. A. Thompson the past two weeks, received a telegram last Friday bearing the sad intelligence of her father's death. Mr. Ephlin was well known and had many friends in this community. The family have the sympathy of all. The remains were embalmed and taken to Chicago for interment.

The Midwinter Fair Fund.

Chairman McKinley of the Sonoma County Midwinter Fair Club reports that nearly $4,000 has been subscribed toward the Sonoma exhibit at the Midwinter Fair. Of this amount $2,000 has already been paid in which has been applied for space in the agricultural building. As soon as the other $2,000 has been collected a demand will be made on the Supervisors for that $1,000 promised to help the exhibit along. At the present time a petition is being circulated in this valley and numerous signed asking the Supervisors to make the appropriation without further delay.

Sonoma Valley Bank.

The semi-annual report of the Sonoma Valley Bank appears on the second page of to-day's paper. It shows that our local bank, notwithstanding the financial panic of the past year, is sounder financially than ever before. This bank in years past has been a great accommodation to the people of Sonoma Valley, and no doubt will continue to be for many years yet to come.

Salmon Fishing.

Charley Ohm, the well-known angler, reports salmon fishing at Embarcadero very poor this year. So far he has hooked less than half-a-dozen big fish. A number of San Francisco fishermen lined the banks of Sonoma creek, between Vollmar's Hotel and the Lower Landing last Sunday. All met with poor success.

A Good Appointment.

David Calloway of this place has been appointed Superintendent of the County Farm near Santa Rosa. He will assume the duties of the office next Monday. The appointment is a good one and under the superintendency of Mr. Calloway the Farm will be in the hands of an upright, capable and honest gentleman.

Follow the Poles.

"Will you please tell me the road to Sonoma?"

This question is asked many times a day by pilgrims and strangers in the western part of town, where all roads do not lead to the place mentioned.

A guide-board has been suggested, but where would you put it? It is put at every turn or corner that suggests the interrogation Sonoma will be well advertised in West Napa.

"When I am asked the way to Sonoma," says the Mayor, whose home is on Seminary street, "I just simply matters by pointing to the telegraph line and telling the inquirer to follow that."—Napa Register.

The Union Hotel bar, under the supervision of A. A. Enke, will be supplied with the very best of wines, whiskeys and cigars to be had in the market.

When removing gloves never begin at the tips of the fingers to pull them off. Turn back the wrist and draw them off wrong side out. Before putting them away turn them right side out and smooth out lengthwise. Never roll them out tightly, one inside of the other, as whatever moisture they may have gathered from the hands dries in this way very slowly and makes the kid stiff and hard. Strips of cotton flannel are good to lay away between gloves.

Chicken thieves are making the rounds of the hen roosts in town nightly. Several of our citizens have lost from eight to ten fine hens during the past week. There is a decided leaning toward basques, real or simulated, by trimming, and while there is considerable style about a basque bodice it is not a youthful model, imparting always a severe, prim appearance to even the graceful, youthful figure of sweet sixteen. A Russian blouse bodice, a Princess May corsage, pointed waist, Breton corsage, Spanish corset, baby bodice—any of these styles is far more attractive.

Have you ever given a lemon race? asks the Philadelphia Times. If not, perhaps such an entertainment would prove very amusing. Place lemons in two rows about two feet apart. At one side a man starts, at the other a woman. The object is to pick up the lemons with a teaspoon, returning with each lemon to baskets placed at the head of the lines. The task must be accomplished in one minute. A prize is usually given the one getting the most lemons in the basket within the given time.

SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, JAN. 13, 1894

A PUZZLE IN PRONUNCIATION.

Set before a Teachers' Institute in Vermont and Left Unolved.

The following rather curious piece of composition was recently placed upon the blackboard at a teachers' institute in Vermont, and a prize of a Webster's Dictionary offered to any person who could read it and pronounce every word correctly. The book was not carried off, as it was the lowest number of mistakes in pronunciation made.

A sacrilegious son of Belial who has suffered from bronchitis, having exhausted his finances, in order to make good the deficit, resolved to ally himself to a comely, lenient and docile young lady of the Malay or Caucasian race. He accordingly purchased a callopie and coral necklace of a chameleon hue and securing a suite of rooms at a principal hotel he engaged the head waiter as his coadjutor. He then dispatched a letter of the most unexceptionable caligraphy extant, inviting the young lady to a matinee. She revolted at the idea, refused to consider herself sacrificable to his desires and sent a polite note of refusal, on receiving which he procured a carbine and bowie knife, said that he would not now forge fetters hymeneal with the queen and went to an isolated spot, severed his jugular vein and discharged the contents of the carbine into his abdomen. The debris was removed by the coroner.

The mistakes in pronunciation were made on the following words, Sacrilegious, Belial, bronchitis, exhausted, finances, deficit, comely, lenient, docile, Malay, callopie, chameleon, suite, coadjutor, caligraphy, matinee, sacrificable, carbine, hymeneal, isolated, jugular and debris.—Chicago Tribune.

Bank of England Notes.

With the Bank of England the destruction of its notes takes place about once a week and at 7 p. m. It used to be done in the daytime, but made such a smell that the neighboring stockbrokers petitioned the government to be previously canceled by punching a hole through the amount (in figures) and tearing off the signature of the chief cashier. The notes are burned in a closed furnace, and the only agency employed is shavings and bundles of wood. They used to be burned in a cage, the result of which was that once a week the city was darkened with burned fragments of notes. For future purposes of reference the notes are left five years before being burned.

The number of notes coming into the Bank of England every day is about 50,000, and 550,000 are destroyed every week, or something like 18,000,000 every year.

The stock of paid notes for five years is about 77,745,000 in number, and they fill 13,400 boxes, which if placed side by side would reach 23 miles. If the notes were placed in a pile, they would reach to a height of 53 miles, or if joined end to end would form a ribbon 12,455 miles long.—Chambers' Journal.

Our Christmas Trees.

The newspapers are frequently very pathetic over the enormous destruction of forests, caused by the annual sales of Christmas trees. As trees are in any form valuable only for the pleasure which humanity can derive from them, there seems to be no more reason why they may not be sacrificed for this pleasure when comparatively young as for floor boards when they reach thousands of years. The satisfaction that thousands of young folks receive from the Christmas tree is a full compensation for its destruction, and aside from this, as any one knows who may have visited northern forests, the trees usually are far too close together ever to form first class timber. Spruce and firs may be seen growing together as thick as wheat in the grainfield, and to expect timber from such closely growing specimens is entirely out of the question; hence the trees may be cut from the young northern forests without operating against full grown forest trees eventually.—Mechan's Monthly.

Victoria Paraphrased.

During one of Queen Victoria's visits to the highlands of Scotland she was riding down a glen on the estate of the Earl of Dalhousie, when being thirsty she drank from a spring of crystal water which bubbled from a grassy spot among the heather. The rustic well is now covered by a beautiful fountain, which bears the following inscription:

Rest, stranger, on this lovely scene
And drink and pray for Scotland's queen.
—Victoria.

A great deal of amusement was created by the following couplet penciled below the above and supposed to have been written by an English tourist:

Will you pray for Queen Victoria here,
But go and drink her health in beer,
—London Truth.

An Advertising Dodge.

"Shoe brushes, 10 cents," was what caught the eye of a man passing the shop of a tradesman with whom he had had some dealings. The passerby went in and said, "That isn't the way to spell brushes." "Of course it isn't," said the cheerful merchant. "That's an advertising dodge. You are the tenth man this morning to come in and call my attention to the mistake."—New York Sun.

THE WEALTH OF THE WORLD.

An Erroneous Theory as to Its Potentiality For Increasing.

Few people, even among professed politicians, have much idea of the wealth of the world or of the manner in which that wealth is growing. Still fewer have any notion of the potentiality of wealth to increase. M. Janet quotes the elaborate calculation of an ingenious author to show that 100 francs, accumulating at 5 per cent compound interest for seven centuries, would be sufficient to buy the whole surface of the globe, both land and water, at the rate of 1,000,000 francs (240,000) the hectare. The actual growth of riches has not hitherto assumed such inconvenient proportions.

M. Janet cites various authorities to show that the wealth of the United Kingdom exceeds £10,000,000,000; that of France, £8,000,000,000; that of all Europe, £40,000,000,000; that of the United States, £14,000,000,000. If we place the wealth of the rest of the world at £26,000,000,000, we shall arrive at an aggregate of £80,000,000,000. We should have, we may add, to multiply this vast sum, which according to M. Janet's ingenious authority 100 francs accumulating at 5 per cent compound interest for 700 years would grow.

The figures we have given are so vast that they convey no appreciable idea to the ordinary reader. It may assist the apprehension if it be added that France on the average possesses more than £200, the United Kingdom more than £250 for each member of the population. Just 200 years ago Sir W. Petty estimated the entire wealth of England at only £250,000,000. Two centuries, there fore, have increased it fortyfold.

But the chief additions to it have been made in the last 50 years, and we believe that we are not far wrong in saying that the sum which is annually added to the capital of the United Kingdom amounts to £200,000,000, or in other words is nearly equal to its entire wealth at the time of the revolution of 1688.—Edinburgh Review.

An Early American Yacht.

Cleopatra's Barge was launched in December, 1816. The yacht was rigged as a brigantine and cost about $50,000 even at that early day. She measured 83 feet on the water line, was 22 feet 11 1/2 inches wide and 11 feet 5 1/2 inches deep. Curiously enough these dimensions and proportions are not very different from those of the cup defender Mayflower and her successors. Her tonnage was 104 tons nearly—almost exactly that of the Mayflower under the old rules of measurement.

In spite of her owner's love of seamanship his taste in the matter of decoration seems to have been, to say the least, eccentric—one side of the yacht was painted in horizontal stripes of many colors, and the other bore a similarly diversified device after the manner of the herring bone pattern. Her standing rigging was made of ropes laid in different colored strands, huge false windows were painted on the sides of her cabin, and altogether she must have been distinctly at variance with what is considered "shipshape" at the present day. Nevertheless she was very fast and beat the sailing frigate United States, a crack ship of her day, in an all day race at sea.—Harper's Weekly.

The Moon's Mission.

Some partisans of final causes have imagined that the moon was given to the earth to afford it light during the night. But in this case nature would not have attained the end proposed, since we are often deprived of the same time of the light of both sun and moon. To have accomplished this end it would have been sufficient to have placed the moon at first in opposition to the sun and in the plane of the elliptic at a distance from the earth equal to the one hundredth part of the distance of the earth from the sun, and to have impressed on the earth and moon parallel velocities proportional to their distances from the sun. In this case the moon, being constantly in opposition to the sun, would have described round it an ellipse similar to that of the earth. These two bodies would then constantly succeed each other, and as at this distance the moon could not be eclipsed its light would always replace that of the sun.—Laplace.

A Terrible Prediction.

The press is much given to indulging in Cassandra-like predictions of impending evil. For instance, there is an item going the rounds of the press to the effect that there are 8,000,000 piano players in the United States, and they can elect any man president on whom they may unite. What a terrible prediction! But it is not likely to be realized. Yet there are people who sit upon the eggs of borrowed trouble until they eventually hatch out the genuine chickens.—Texas Siftings.

YOUR FUTURE

IS IN YOUR OWN HAND.

Palmyra assumes to tell what the lines in your hand indicate. It will amuse you, if nothing more. The above diagram almost explains itself. The length of the LINE OF LIFE indicates probable age to which you will live. Each BRACELET gives you thirty years. Well-marked LINE OF HEAD denotes brain power; clear LINE OF FORTUNE, fame or riches. Both combined mean success in life; but you must keep up with modern times. Denote it's Family Magazine, one of the most interesting of every member of the family is interested in it. It is a most magnetic and powerful LINE OF FATE, peaceful life; the reverse, if crooked, a well-defined LINE OF HEALTH spurs you doctors bills; so will the health line in Denmore's. No other magazine publishes so many stories to interest the home circle. You will be subject to extremes of high spirits or depression if you have the GIRL OF VENUS well marked; keep up your spirits by having Denmore's Magazine to read. By subscribing to it for 1894 you will receive a gallery of exquisite works of art of great value, besides the original oil painting which you posted on all the topics of the day, and all the facts, and different items of interest about the household, besides fascinating interesting reading matter, both grave and gay, for the whole family; and while Denmore's is not a fashion magazine, its fashion pages are perfect, and you get with it free of cost, all the patterns you wish to use during the year, and in any size you choose. Send in your subscription at once, only $5.00, and you will get $25.00 in value. Address the publisher, W. Jennings Denmore, 15 East 14th St., New York. If you are unacquainted with the Magazine, send for a specimen copy. A large QUARTER RING means honesty; a large TRIANGLE, generosity; long FIRST DIVISION OF THUMB, strong will; LONG SECOND DIVISION, reason; long third, that of SATURN, prudence; the SUN, love of splendor; MARS, courage; MOON, imagination; VENUS, love of pleasure; and MERCURY, intelligence. Take our advice as above and you will be sure to possess the last and most valuable quality.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

STAR, LANE CO., OREGON, Feb. 28, 1892.

Dr. B. J. Kendall, Co. Dear Sir:—I have used your KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE for the last twelve years never being without it but a few weeks in that time and I have made several wonderful cures with it. I cured a "Curb" of long standing. Then I had a four year old colt badly spavined; I tried every thing without any benefit, so I tried your treatment, and in a few weeks he was well and his shoulder filled up all right, and the other, a four year old that had a "Thrush" and Blood Spavin on the same joint, and to-day he can trot and gallop like a new horse. These statements can be proven, if necessary; the four year olds are now seven and can be sent any day at Cottage Grove, Or. S. Z. FAYTON.
